OVERVIEW

The City of Celina, Ohio is located in the west-central portion of Ohio. The city is the county seat of Mercer County, which is Ohio's leading county for total agricultural receipts. Celina's proximity to these rural areas gives the city a hometown charm, while the nearby presence of major metropolitan areas ensures that Celina has opportunities for cultural and industrial development.

Celina's location along the shores of Grand Lake, which is sometimes called "Ohio's Other Great Lake," is perhaps the city's greatest asset. Grand Lake encompasses 13,500 acres of land and is one of the largest manmade lakes in America, providing Celina's residents and visitors with numerous opportunities for fishing, boating, and waterskiing. Scenic state parks, marinas, boat docks, and other recreational facilities dot Grand Lake's perimeter, making tourism one of Celina's greatest sources of income.

Harbor Square shopping center is anchored by a 203,982 square foot Wal-Mart Supercenter and also features 17,440 square feet of additional general retail space as well as a new Sonic restaurant. Menard's on adjacent land has solidified Celina as the hub for retail sales in the Celina/St. Mary's trade area. Numerous outparcels and residual land acreage provide significant opportunities for the shopping center's growth in the future.
